As the matter of fact , when a crime is committed not only damages In properties but injured persons also have received effects from bodily harm or life . In practice , besides taking a legal steps for compensation in tort there is no other measures for remedy the injured person who is victim of crime .
Although the Constitution of Thailand A.D.1997 was also provided about the compensation for injured person from crime committed .

This thesis focuses on researching of legal measures for providing compensation on Criminal damages and protect the injured person or victim of crime by comparing with the said measures of the foreign countries . This thesis also criticized on Draft Legislation for providing compensation to injured person from criminal offense of Ministry of Justice .

Result getting from this research found that there is no legal measures following to the constitution of Thailand A.D.1997 Section 245 .

The researcher suggests that legal measure for compensate the injured person should be provided following to the Constitution of Thailand A.D. 1997 and the Declaration of Human Right to be internationalization as foreign countries .
