The aim of this research was to study the state and problems of the organization of sex education instruction in schools under the Basic Education Opportunity Expansion Project. The objective were to study the organization of sex education in 6 aspects :- curriculum implementation, contents, teachers, instructional activities, instructional media and types of evaluation.

The results obtained were as the following.

1. The teachers performed according to the curriculum, used a mixture of several methods of teaching, however they had some restraint in some content areas, such as reproduction, sexual deviance and sexual relationship.
2. The teachers used instructinal media correlated with the content, such as graphics, textbooks, video tapes and slides. However, out-dated and scarce resources were the problem.
3. The teachers made periodic assessment which covered the subject taught by using examingtion and behavioral observation.
4. Presentation of the subjects in both main and supplementary textbooks was primarily in informational essays with illustrations.
5. Concerning subjects in sex education textbooks, most of subjects on biology stressed bodily change during puberty. Subjects on psychology stressed sexual adjustment during puberty, while subjects on sociology gave emphasis on relationship between male and female. Concerning subjects in supplementary textbooks, most subjects on biology stressed pregnancy and child delivery.
