ABSTRACT

The purposes of this investigation were to study the operation and needs for the process of quality system management in the educational extension schools. The sample was included 543 primary school administrators and teachers. A set of questionnaires was developed and administered to collect data. The earned data were then analyzed to calculate percentage, arithmetic mean, and standard deviation.

The results showed that the educational extension schools performed the process of quality system at the " much " level especially on developmental plans and projects setting, organizing staff for quality system management, and implementing of plans. The respondents highly needed formation on developmental plans and projects, development and improvement on their works, and development for quality management staff.
