Legal problem in Thailand, connecting to the protection of Industrial Design, in case of overlapping protection of fashion clothing design, that work may be protected by Copyright or Patent law.

Based upon the analysis, the study suggests special law, as the Registered Design Act in United Kingdom should be brought, consideration-protected fashion clothing designs. Nevertheless, in this legislation, consideration must also be given to the appropriateness of equilibrium between the designer's interest and the consumer's interest, and it should be consistent to the International Rule, that Thailand has been obligated.
