The purpose of this research was to study the state and problems concerning the operation of the pre-primary education development center. The 144 samples were the provincial supervisors and officials who were responsible for the pre-primary education from 75 centers. The instruments used in this research were questionnaires, interviewing forms, observations forms, and document analysis forms. Data was analyzed by frequency and percentage.

The findings indicated that most projects were set and put in the Provincial Primary Education Commission Office operational plan. The training workshop and seminar were used in personnel development. The evaluation was done at the end of each training course. As for the instructional supervision, it was done in accordance with the needs and problems by giving advice and solutions, and the evaluation was done by interviewing. The academic resource provision depended on their needs, the materials produced were educational games and the documents produced were academic articles. Beside this, most of the educational research were done and used as informations for instructional supervision by the provincial supervisors.

The problems confronted in personnel development were the lack of experienced personnel and successive evaluation; lack of budget, personnel and criteria for evaluation in supervising; lack of budget and officials for centers in providing academic resouces; and lack of experienced personnel and study resources in educational research.

The suggestions proposed were that the personnel development should be done according to each province's needs, the criteria of instructional supervision standards should be formed, the district (Amphur) level center should be set up, and how to do a research should be trained to the all personnel of the centers.
