

Large vertebrate preparation and quarantine facilities at the natural history museum, London, U.K

Mendez, A.*#, Portela Miguez, R., Ryder, S.
The Natural History Museum, London, U.K.

*Corresponding author, Email: A.Mendez@nhm.ac.uk

#Presenting author, Email: A.Mendez@nhm.ac.uk

DOI: xx.xxxx/xxx.2014.xxx.xxx.xxx

Abstract

This is presentation of the latest additions to the Natural History Museum, London's Collections facilities. Just over a year after the opening of the state-of-the-art Quarantine Facility in South Kensington, the Natural History Museum now has a new quarantine area in our store building south of the river and a brand new Preparation Facility for large vertebrates. The poster will give and overview of the layout of the facilities, benefits for the Museum and current use of space.

Keywords: Natural History Museum, quarantine area