Abstract

The purposes of this research were 1) to study the current situations and problems in administrative section of District Police Stations in the Police Region 4; 2) to compare those current situations and problems classified by two levels of the stations; and 3) to study the relations between those current situations and problems.

The sample consisted of 274 policemen in administrative section of District Police Stations in the Police Region 4. A set of questionnaires was employed to collect data. The earned data were analyzed by a programmed computer to acquire percentages, arithmetic means, standard deviations, t-test and correlation coefficient.

The results :

1. The policemen in administrative section of District Police Stations in the Police Region 4 performed their work at "moderate" level ($\bar{X} = 3.07$) and had the problems in performances at "moderate" level. ($\bar{X} = 2.60$)

2. The policemen in administrative section in the first and the second level of the station performed their work differently at the .01 level of significance whereas there was not statistically different at .05 level in the problems of performances.

3. Consideration in both of overall and partial perspectives, there was no significant correlation between the administrative work performances and the problems.
