ABSTRACT

The purposes of this research were 1) to study the degree of competencies of the teachers in the primary schools under the jurisdiction of Sakon Nakhon Provincial Primary Education Office in the aspects of attributes and attitudes, and 2) to compare those competencies between the perceptions of the administrators and the teachers.

The sample consisted of 285 administrators and 380 teachers. A set of questionnaire was employed to collect data. The earned data were analyzed by a computer to acquire percentages, means, standard deviation and t-test.

The results :

Both of the overall attributes and attitudes of the teachers in the primary schools under the jurisdiction of Sakon Nakhon Provincial Primary Education Office were at " good " level. In Comparison, the perceptions of the teachers about their competencies were " higher " than the perceptions of the administrators with the significant difference at .05 level. Considering in detail, there was no difference between the perceptions of the administrators and the teachers in the aspect of attributes, but there was a significant difference at .05 level in the aspect of attitudes.
