After the conclusion of the Uruguay Round of Multirateral Trade Negotiation, the World Trade Organisation was established on January 1st, 1995. The functions of the World Trade Organisation are to facilitate the world trade liberalization and eliminate trade barrier as well as to provide the framwork for the implementaion, administration and operation of the international trade agreements. The World Trade Organisation administers various international trade agreements including General Agreement on Trade in Services (GATS). As a member of the World Trade Organisation, Thailand obliges to comply with the agreement. Telecommunication is a service sector which falls under the perview of the General Agreement on Trade in Services.

At present telecommunication services laws of Thailand do not comply with the principle provided by General Agreement on Trade in Services. These telecommnication laws : the Telegraph and Telephone Act (BE 2477), the Telephone Organisation of Thailand Act (BE 2497). The General Agreement on Trade in Services shall have a great impact on Thailand telecommunication services as well as social and economics retterys. For all these reasons, Thailand has to modify and amend the laws concerning telecommunication services.
