The purposes of this research were to study the content and methods in needs for developing work competencies of the group facilitators, and to compare the needs of the group facilitators among Bangkok Non-formal Education Center 1-4. Research populations were 1,166 group facilitators in Bangkok. The instrument utilized for data collection was a questionnaire. Two hundred and ninety-eight copies of questionnaire were distributed to the group facilitators, two hundred and ninety-four copies or 98.66 percent were completed and returned. Data were analyzed by using percentage, arithmetic mean, standard deviation, Interval estimation 95 %, and one way analysis of variance.

Research findings were as follows :

1. The group facilitators expressed their needs at high level for all aspects of competencies which were ; counselling and problem solving, public relation and coordination, administration and registration, group process activity, and measurement and evaluation.

2. The method in developing work competencies which the group facilitators expressed their needs was a workshop.

3. The needs for developing work competencies of the group facilitators among Bangkok Non-formal Education Center 1-4 were not statistically different at .05 level of significance.
