The research is aimed at studying the roles and importance of the Interior Ministry officers in the Thai society by examining the roles of the Ministry that cause its influence , its unique characteristics , its reactionary effects , and the expansion in the scope of its influence. These all impact the Thai politics and society.

The methods used in the study are documentary research and in-depth interviews of both government officers and civilians.

The outcome of the study shows that the government , roles , and authority of the Interior Ministry , which have had a long , continual development , are the factors that cause its strong bureaucratic structure. In addition , the traditional Thai political culture still influence people's views of politics. This , in turn results in an increased importance of the Interior Ministry officers.

The importance of these officers has gradually but steadily and continually increased in all directions. This has a reactionary effect on people's views of politics ,in that they come to accept the importance of the officers. Also , both directly and indirectly , the roles , functions , and power of the Interior Ministry , as well as the Thai society and politics are all affected the Interior Ministry becomes the center of politics. Its resources have been used for various purposes. As a result ,the Interior Ministry seems like a political tool for the acquisition of social and political power which have been realized by many politicians.
