VIRTUE / INCULCATION PROCESS STUDENT

APINYA MANAROTE : ( A STUDY OF VIRTUE INCULCATION PROCESS FOR CHULALONGKORN UNIVERSITY STUDENT)

THESIS ADVISOR : ASST.PROF. THIDARAT BOONNUJ, Ed.D 624 PP. ISBN 974-635-799-9

The purpose of the research was to study the virtue inculcation policies and process, the opinions of Chulalongkorn University lecturers and students on the process as well as to suggest ways to inculcate virtue among the students. The population for this research included Chulalongkorn University lecturers, students affairs advisors and students. The tools were documentary study forms, interviews and questionnaires.

The results were :

1. Policies. There are clear written policies in both university and faculty level to inculcate virtue among students in curriculum, teaching and learning, activities and university environmental development plans.

2. The inculcation process.

2.1 Concerning curriculums, virtue is included in the curriculum as a subject of its own and added to other subjects in form of responsibility and ethics.

2.2 In teaching and learning, lecturers serve as good models in inculcating virtue.

2.3 As for student activities, student activities advisors inculcate virtue by guiding and counselling. Students activities also promote virtue - responsibility and devotion to others.

2.4 University environments help promote virtue among students.

3. Lecturers' and students' opinions. Both lecturers and students agreed that :

3.1 Concerning teaching and learning, lecturers serve as good models in both their competencies and behaviours.

3.2 As for student activities, virtue is handed on from seniors to the new - comers.

Moreover, most student activities help promote virtue.

4. The research suggested that there should be co-operation among administrative, academic, student affairs departments to establish an agency responsible for virtue promotion.
