The development of technology in computer and internet which is important kind of mass communication system in present world. A world without territorial. So this bring the right to broadcast the news or information though out the world. However, these also can be used for committing many kind of computer crimes including using internet in spreading out the sexual crime through the internet.

This thesis focuses on the study of computer crime especially sexual crime which Thai people are injured person through internet because these effect to the good moral of childhood these effect to the moral of Thai society and sexual behavior of Thai children as well. Moreover, it is the cause of sexual crime and other social problems. It is accepted that the important problem is sexual crime through the internet because this kind of crime easily to commit and difficult to control and suppress with effectiveness if the present provisions of law are not revise.

Results getting from research are that countries throughout the world facing the same problem and try to find the legal measure for computer crime fit to each country which have different in moral culture and tradition. As for Thailand she still doesnot have special legal provision for computer crime and present legal provision which bring to enforce still donot sufficient so it should be provided the specific legal provision on computer crime especially sexual crime through internet. For effectiveness in enforcing law for good moral and prevent the bad mental of people in society.
