Thai police, The long history of bureaucracy, Structure and duties have been changed throughout the period of time. Police was aide-de-camp in the first era. All duties were depended on the king's desire. In administrative reform era, Police force was establised as the western countries to solve the problems on extra territorial right and the increasing of crimes. Democracy era, Police has been changed to the machanism of political power. So that The Police Department has been restructurerd many times due to the desirability of the administrative in order to serve their interrest that divert from the main purpose of The Police Department. Today, The complexion and non-systematic of organization structure cause impact on the effective of Police administration and Police exercise.

This reserch is aimed to analyse legal problems on organization structure of The Police Department which cause the complexion and non-systematic. The reserch findes that legislative process is non-fitting, gap in the law of Police duties and lack of unity problems. In conclusion, The thesis propose the trend to solve these problems in shortterm and longterm that can be implemented tangibly.
