The objective of this research is to study the physical problem of economic and social condition in order to indicate the way to develop the areas and to make them ready for the growth along with the development of transportation network between the economic square and the districts which are on the Thai-Laotian border.

According to the studies the district areas which are located at the Thai-Laotian border have high potential development. However, they still lack of supporting from the government and individual investment which causes these areas in the situation of haphazard growth. Besides, it is found out that the district areas lack of communication service centre to contact one another in order to give out services and be a center of all areas both in the country and abroad. Therefore, Thalee District has been considered and promoted as a trade centre for primary agricultural products. Moreover, other districts which are located near the border should be developed too. The development should be well planned and well done under the basic structure which relates to individual investment. The social problem should be urgently solved since it still be the government's problem.
