At the present time, There are laws which stipulate criminal presumptions for corporate representative. Most of these laws are vague because they were ambiguously drafted. Such provisions effect the Right and Freedom of Corporate representative as a whole. This research finds that most of these provisions lack true justification. This writing proposes that the principle of fairness should be considered. By limiting the scope of Corporate representative, correcting section 29 of the Constitution B.E. 2534 and specifying the liable penal provisions, the situation may be improved.
