The purpose of this study was to study problems concerning language application of Thai youth in participating in the Ship for Southeast Asian Youth Program in the aspect of language skills : listening, speaking, reading and writing, and also cultural aspect. The samples of this research were 112 participating youths in 1985 - 1991. The questionnaire, which was approved by 5 specialists, was used as the instrument for data collection. The obtained data were analyzed by means of percentage, arithmetic mean, and standard deviation.

The findings can be summarized as follows :

Concerning problems of English language application in the language skills aspect, the youths participating in the Ship for Southeast Asian Youth Program thought that they had such problems at the low level in every language skill.

Concerning problems of English language application in the cultural aspect, the youths participating in the Ship for Southeast Asian Youth Program thought that they had such problems at the low level in every topic.
