

Abstract

This study is a survey research on the Uses of computer Technology in the Thai Governmental Higher Education Institutes. The objective of this research is to study the amount and types of computer used in the Thai governmental higher education institutes, including the needs and satisfaction received from computer application. The data were collected from 184 governmental higher education institutes in Bangkok and in up-country by using direct mail questionnaire.

Findings of the study are :-

1. Most faculties and organizations have their own computers mostly, micro computers. The most popular one is IBM micro computers or p.c.

2. The amount of using the computers are moderat. Types of work that need the computers the most are : documentary preparation and training service to other governmental organizations.

3. Most organizations are very satisfied with the help they received from their computers.

4. Most organizations needs computers to help in their work, especially in their data collection and information base system.