

Abstract

This report presents the development of the Linear Control System Analysis and Design Program III that combines the features of Linear Control System Analysis and Design Program I^[2] and II^[3]. The program is developed based on graphical user interface of Microsoft Windows and using C language.