The purposes of this study were to investigate and compare problems in organizing and administering physical education programs encountered by the heads of the physical education sections in secondary schools under the jurisdiction of the Department of General Education. Questionnaires were constructed and sent to 330 heads of physical education sections in secondary schools through out the country. Three hundred and one questionnaires or 91.21 percent were returned. The data were then analyzed in terms of percentages, means, standard deviations and t-test.

It was found that :

1. The heads of the physical education sections encountered the problems in the areas of planning, co-ordinating, and evaluating of the programs at the "low" level, in the areas of organizing and administrating, personnel administrating, and budgetting at the "high" level.

2. In comparing the opinions of the heads of the physical education sections concerning the problems encountered between those of ten years experiences and under with those of more than ten years, between five years and under of being the heads of sections with those of more than five years, and between those of holding physical education certificate with those of holding bachelor's degree and up, it was found that there was no significant difference at .05 level.
