

Abstract

A Study on "Approach to promote Social Welfare for person who claim Social Insurance under Housing Project SPS 1506 : Case Study of Nakornrachasima province" aims to study the knowledge of the person who claim social welfare under the Housing Project SPS 1506, and also the problem deterring to access the right of the claimers, so as to improve the process of Housing Project SPS 1506. This study is an exploratory research using Questionnaires as a tool to collect data. Totally 354 Cases of data were collected and analyzed by statistical method using SPSS, percentage, Mean, Standard Diviation, t-test , F-test.

The findings are as follows:-

Most of the Insurance claimers are female, average age is 33 years, most of them were married, employed at private Company, their income below 10,000 Bath/month. Most of them lived at Nakornrachasima province. The period for using insurance services is over 10 years. Most of the claimers have knowledge and understanding on the welfare of Housing Project at low level specially the process for submitting the matters. The claimers have knowledge at low level.

The claimers know the result of claiming the insurance only after 30 days. About the idea on the Social Insurance of Housing Project SPS 1506, most of them agreed at average level that the project is useful assuring security for the claimers. About the problem deterring the right of claimers to access the social welfare under this project, they agreed at average level. The claimers mostly agreed that the criteria for allotting loan is the problems and obstacles, specially the project does not define clearly the scope of money and the housing design to propose for the loan. The research also found that the claimers who have different marital status, different in time of claiming Insurance, the idea on housing project have different knowledge on "Social Insurance of Housing Project SPS 1506" at the level of significance 0.05

The research recommended that, there should have more activities to increase knowledge and understanding on the "Social Insurance under Housing Project SPS 1508" to the claimers. This can be done by campaigning and make public and social service companies known continuously on the project and the process for submitting the case to fit in with the set criteria to be able to get the allotment. The program for following up and evaluation on this Housing Project should be encouraged so as to develop and expand the project and enable the peoples to access their right on Social Insurance.