WALLAYA KOSOLKITAYA : LEGAL ASPECTS OF THE LAND RECLAMATION. THESIS ADVISOR : ASSO. PROF. WANIT'CHUTIWONG, 175 PP. ISBN 974-579-338-8

According to the present situation , it appears that it is necessary for both government and private sectors to take into consideration on the utilization of land reclamation for the purposes of transportation , industry and commerce but the provisions of laws presently enforced have not been properly enacted, and problems and obstacles in respect of land reclamation have been arisen both in terms fo legal issues and practically.

This thesis aims to study the theory, concept and provisions of laws to solve problems and obstacles on land reclamation , and purposes two solutions as follows :

1. Short-term solution : The government should specify the policy on land reclamation by appointing Department of Harbor to consider and approve the application for land reclamation by cooperating with other relevant agency such as Land Department.

2. Long-term solution : The procedures and provisions of laws in respect of land reclamation should be specifically constituted.
