

ACKNOWLEDEMENTS

This study could be only completed with the help of the graduate students and staff at the Executive MBA programme at Thammasat University, the University of Thai Chamber of Commerce and Kasetsart University. Thanks for their willingness to be a part of this study. Also, I owned much to my friends at Thammasat University. During the time of conducting this research, we have supported and encouraged each other and aim that we can get through this task together. During the past two years, I realize how important that being successful is to helping each other, not being successful alone. I would like to thank my advisor Ajarn Damrong. He always gave me valuable advice and feedback to improve this work. Lastly, I would like thank my friends, my old colleagues, family members and friends. They were always there to support and encourage me for completing this research.

Finally, I would like to apologize for any mistakes which might have accidentally occurred in the study. However, I wish that this study will be helpful for people interested to study online. Any feedback is welcomed and could be forwarded to e-mail: nittayanoisaengow@hotmail.com.

Thammasat University
Bangkok, Thailand

Nittaya Saengow
March 2009