

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

This research paper could not be completed without the great support and encouragement of many people.

First of all, I would like to express my sincere gratitude to my advisor, Assoc. Professor Kamolrat Jaratrasamee for her valuable time, guidance, and comments about this research until it was completed.

Secondly, I am deeply indebted to all instructors at the Language Institute, Thammasat University who sacrificed their valuable time and knowledge for me, my line manager who has always supported me for whatever I've done during the past two years, and to all my LITU classmates for their friendly support, kind assistance, and both lovely and frustrated time we shared.

My deep gratitude is also dedicated to my beloved family for their unlimited and unconditional love, support, and kindness.

Lastly, I would like to thank my sense of humor that beautifully combated any stress and pressure arisen under several challenging periods of time.

Thammasat University
Bangkok, Thailand

Haruthai Rodsuwannoi
March 2009