

APPENDIX G
Chonburi Joke Riddle Photos Collection

G1. The collection of photos from Buffalo Racing Festival, October 2008

Photo 1 : Chonburi Joke Riddle field besides buffalo racing tracks.

Photo 2 : The game was formally organized by Chonburi Administrative Office as a cultural conservation activity incorporating primary schools in Chonburi province.

Photo 3 : Bells and drum were used to give signals in the game.

Photo 4 : After the game was over, a school teacher gave a speech related to the Chonburi Joke Riddle game to all the primary school students contestants.

G2. The collection of photos from a demonstrative event held at Chonburi Sukhabot School during the School Fair, November 2008

Photo 5 : Female joke master was running the game with the assistance from the team members on the far right corner.

Photo 6 : An interested participant selected the riddle of his own preference.

Photo 7-10: The audience as prospect players was of all age, genders, and status. The participants could play in team or individually. Sometimes the joke assistants gave some hints to the young students to help them play along more easily.

Photo 11: Once a player gave the wrong answer, the joke team hit the drum.