

Anchalee Chantarintrakorn 2014: Relationship between Health Literacy and Dengue Hemorrhagic Fever Prevention and Control Behaviors of Public Health Volunteers in Suanluang Subdistrict Municipality, Krathum Baen District, Samut Sakhon Province. Master of Science (Health Education), Major Field: Health Education, Department of Physical Education. Thesis Advisor: Assistant Professor Karuntharat Boonchuaythanasi, Ph.D. 146 pages.

This descriptive research was aim to study the relationship between health literacy and Dengue hemorrhagic fever prevention and control behaviors of public health volunteers in Suanluang subdistrict municipality, Krathum Baen District, Samut Sakhon Province. The population in this study are 240 public health volunteers in Suanluang subdistrict municipality. Questionnaire was used as a research instrument in the study. Data was analyzed by descriptive statistics and Pearson's product Moment Correlation Coefficient

The study results showed that health literacy had positive relationship with Dengue hemorrhagic fever prevention and control of public health volunteers at a .05 statistical significant level. Health literacy about Dengue hemorrhagic fever prevention and control of public health volunteers was in a moderate level. Dengue hemorrhagic fever prevention and control behaviors of public health volunteers was in a good level.

---

Student's signature

---

Thesis Advisor's signature