

ABSTRACT

Title of Research Paper : The Performance Efficiency of Health Promoting Hospital Project :
A Case Study of Pathumthani Hospital.

Author : Miss Sunan Yutdon

Degree : Master of Arts (Social Development)

Year : 2001

The Study of "The Performance Efficiency of Health Promoting Hospital Project :A Case Study of Pathumthani Hospital " had three following objectives ;

1. to study the level of performance efficiency of Health Promoting Hospital Project.
2. to study factors affecting performance efficiency of Health Promoting Hospital Project.
3. to study the problems and obstacles of Health Promoting Hospital Project.

Population under this study were committees, sub-committees and working staff of Pathumthani Hospital with totally of 86 persons. The data was collected by using questionnaire and analyzed by using statistics including percentage, mean, standard deviation, t-test and F-test.

RESULTS

1. Most of health promoting hospital's staff had aged between 30-39 and working period between 9-26. They had a Bachelor's degree and working as nurse.
2. The performance efficiency of Health Promoting Hospital Project was at moderate level. When considering in each aspects were clearly policy reception, role understanding of staff, directing, controlling and goal of project were at moderate level.
3. Factors affecting Performance Efficiency of Health Promoting Hospital Project were cooperation and attitude toward the officer had a significant relationship at 0.05 significant level. Age, working period, education level, position, information, training and knowledge of Health Promoting had no significant relationship with the performance efficiency of Health Promoting Hospital.