

Abstract

The thesis entitle “The promotion partnership of members the Association for the Mentally III” aims to study the attitude to promote the participation network among members of Association for the Mentally III. The questionnaires were used for data collection and analyzed data by Frequency distribution, Percentile, Mean, Standard deviation, t-test and F-test the study summarize.

Most of the sample are female, their age are between 41– 50 years. All of them are the committee of the Association. The duration of members were between 1 month to 2 years and their level of participation in the activity of the Association are low. The whole attitudes in all aspects are in high level especially the attitude to promote the support dependence which is at highest Mean.

The study suggested that the Association should emphasize the promotion partnership in members of the Association by giving an importance of making good relationship between networks such as create activities for good relationship among members, give more advices about working teams to the members. The Association should increase the public relations of its policies through the website of the Association. It should support members to participate the activities of the Association especially the useful activities and should show that the participation to the Association is accepted by the society in general. It should give the knowledge and skills in working about networks to the important members and support the necessary teaching media or necessary knowledge documents to the members. And it should give the forums for exchange of the opinions of the members in every month and set the “leader center, knowledge center” to support the activities that will cooperate with the networks in each areas.
