

ACKNOWLEDGMENT

I would never have been able to finish my thesis without the guidance of my committee members and the help from friends, teachers and scientists of the Department of Biochemistry.

I would like to express my sincere thanks and deepest gratitude to my advisor, Associate Professor Dr. Sukkid Yasothornsrikul, for providing me the great opportunity to gain experience as the assistant researcher in his research team, and to study in this field. I am grateful for his valuable advices, suggestions, excellent guidance, pushing me to learn, supporting my presentation in international conferences and all criticism throughout the course of my study.

I would like to thank my co-advisor, Dr.Sittiruk Roytrakul, who providing me the grateful discussion, excellent suggestion and encouragement during this study and helpfulness in peptide fingerprint of recombinant  $\alpha$ -amylase by LC-MSMS.

I would like to thank all the committee members, Assistant Professor Dr.Sajee Suwansri, Assistant Professor Dr.Thidarat Eksittikul, Dr.Apinan Iimmongkol, Dr.Panatda Jannoey for giving the helpful suggestion.

I would also like to thank all the members of MD345 unit cell, Dr.Damratsamon Surangkul, Dr.Jongrak Attarat, Dr.Suchada Phimsen, Dr.Wimonrat Hoasadawut, and all friends for their support, suggestion, facility and helpful comments during the time of laboratory working.

I would like to give special thanks Dr. Saisiri Mirasena for her encouragement and suggestion and my elder friend for pieces of advice with many aspects of academic writing.

Especially, I would like to thank the National Research Council of Thailand for the graduate scholarship research support, and National Biological Control Research Center, Naresuan University for insect identification. These thanks are also extended to Department of Biochemistry, Faculty of Medical Science, Naresuan University for facility support.

Finally, I would also like to thank my parents, aunt and uncle, elder and younger sisters. They were always supporting me with their endless love.

Narong Kaewsuwan