

From an above chart, it can be concluded that in order to conserve knowledge of the use of medicinal plants, the community needs to foster the young Mien about their attitude, their social values, conscious mind and awareness of the usefulness of their local wisdom, and also emphasize the indigenous belief regarding a respect for nature for their long term peaceful co-existence with forests. Education regarding smart technology and the decision to use modernize medicine also should be discussed.