

7. เอกสารอ้างอิง

- [1] Choungthong, P., 2006, The generating of primary abrasive particles from hip endoprosthesis surfaces, Ph.D.- Thesis, Technical University of Munich.
- [2] Ababneh, M., 2002, The optimization of high strength titanium alloy surface for modular hip endoprosthesis, Ph.D.- Thesis, Technical University of Munich.
- [3] Choungthong, P., Guder, S., Bader, R., Warmuth, S., Wintermantel, E., Werner, E., 2003, Origin of Micro Damages of Implant Surfaces. In Proceeding 18th European Conference on Biomaterials, page LMP 013, Stuttgart.
- [4] Fink, U., 1993, Wear behaviors of the interface TiAl6V4 vs. Polyethylene for the implant application due to different surface modification for metallic components, Ph.D.- Thesis, The Friedrich Alexander University of Nuremberg.
- [5] De Bruyn, et al., 1995, Fretting fatigue behavior and porosity of TiN coatings, Wear, Vol. 181-183, pp. 856-861.
- [6] Schuh, et al., 2005, Residual particle free rough surfaces after rough blasting with steel grit in total hip arthroplasty, Biomed Tech (Berl.), Vol. 50 (12), pp. 404-407
- [7] TN-503-5, 1993 Measurement of residual stresses by the hole drilling strain gage method. Technisches Merkblatt of Firma Measurment Group Inc.
- [8] Schwingenschlögl, A., 2005, Calculating calibration data using FEA for ESPI assisted hole- drilling method. Diplom Thesis, TU Munich, Institute of Materials Science and Mechanics of Materials
- [9] Heinrich, G., 2000, CVD-Diamantschichten zur Verbesserung der Oberflächeneigenschaften von Titanwerkstoffen in der Gelenkendoprothetik. Ph.D. -Thesis, University of Erlangen-Nürnberg
- [10] Warnes, B.M., Puris, A.L., Schilbe, J.E., The manufacture and fatigue cracking resistance of grit free aluminide diffusion coating. Surf Coat Technol, 163-164:100-105, 2003
- [11] Wagner, L., Surface Performance of Titanium, chapter Mechanical surface treatments on Titanium alloys. Fundamental mechanisms, pages 199-215 TMS, Warrendale, 1997.

- [12] Breme, J., Eisenbarth, E., Biehl, V. Titanlegierung in der Medizintechnik. In Peters, M., Leyen, C., editor, Titan und Titanlegierungen, pages 431-462, Weinheim, 2002. Wiley-VCH Verlag.
- [13] Bader, R. et al. Experimentelle Untersuchungen zum Abriebverhalten von zementierten Hüftendoprothesenstielen aus Titan- Kobaltchrom-Basislegierungen. Biomateriellen, 4(4): 264-269, 2003