

Thesis Title	A Study of Knowledge, Attitudes and Skills in Computer of Administrator and Teacher – Lecturer in office of Primary Education of Lop Buri Provincial
Thesis Credits	6
Candidate	Mr.Chula Honwichit
Supervisors	Assoc.Prof.Adisak Pongpullpolsak Asst.Prof.Dr.Paiboon Kiattikomol
Degree of Study	Master of Science in Industrial Education
Division	Computer and Information Technology
Academic Year	2001

ABSTRACT

The purpose of this research was to study the knowledge, attitudes and skills in computer of Administrator and Teacher – Lecturer in office of Primary Education of Lop Buri Provincial. This research used a questionnaire as the tool to collect data with the samples of 556 administrators and teachers – lecturers in 11 suboffice of Primary Education of Lop Buri Provincial by multistage stratified random sampling and proportional allocation. The data was analyzed by using frequency, percentage, mean, standard deviation and F-test.

The research results indicated as follow.

The administrators and teachers – lecturers had computer knowledge at low level. The administrators and teachers – lectures had attitude in computer at high level. The administrators and teachers – lecturers had computer skill at low level. The administrators and teachers – lecturers who had differently the educational levels had computer knowledge, attitude in computer and computer skill were difference. The administrators and teachers – lecturers who had differently the computer experience had computer knowledge, attitude in computer and computer skill were difference.