

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

This thematic paper dissertation was made successful by the kind and gracious assistance of Assistant Professor Dr. Krongdai Unhasuta, my major advisor who kindly offered advice, consultation, recommendations, ideas, review, corrections of errors and constant encouragement and attention for which the investigator is deeply grateful and truly impressed by such kindness. For all of the above, the investigator would like to take this opportunity to extend her deepest appreciation.

Many thanks also go to Assistant Professor Dr. Tipa Toskulkao, the investigator's co-advisor who kindly offered advice, review and corrections with encouragement throughout the study process.

The investigator would also like to thank Associate Professor Dr. Ketsarin Utriyaprasit, Chairman of the thematic defense committee, and Assistant Professor Dr. Prapaporn Jinuntuya, a member of the thematic committee for their constructive comments and valuable recommendations to improvement of this study.

The investigator would also like to thank Ms. Sompong Klomkhao, Head of the Nursing Department, Ms. Suwadee Sukinit, Assistant Head of the Nursing Department, Ms. Nampetch Keawpanya, Head of the Male Surgical Ward on the 8th Floor, in addition to all of the staff and colleagues at Klang Hospital who provided the investigator with opportunities, assistance, support and encouragement in conducting this study.

Many sincere thanks go to all of the investigator's professional colleagues and fellow students in the Faculty of Graduate Nursing Studies, 52nd Class, who offered assistance, encouragement and exchanges of experience and learning together.

In closing, the investigator would like to express her deepest gratitude to her parents, Mr. Sopon Marksap and all of her family members who have always provided encouragement, assistance and support. The investigator would also like to thank everyone who has not been mentioned above, but provided support toward the successful completion of this thesis dissertation.
