

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I would like to express my deepest gratitude and appreciation toward my major advisor, Dr. Uthaiwan Suthisansanee, for guidance, helpful suggestion, and encouragement throughout my thesis. Equal gratitude is also expressed to my co-advisors and examination committees, Asst. Prof. Wantanee Kriengsinyos and Asst. Prof. Aikkarach Kettawan for their support, recommendations and correction of this thesis. I especially thank Dr. Dalad Siriwan, the external chair committee of the thesis, for her valuable suggestions.

As well, I would like to thank Asst. Prof. Siriporn Tuntipopipat for access to lab facilities and provision of various materials and equipments. I also thank Mr. Channarong Muangnoi for laboratory techniques, support and help. I also thank all educational and research supporting staffs and my friends from Food and Nutrition for Development (Nutrition and Dietetic) graduated program, Institute of Nutrition, Mahidol University for their helpfulness and kindness.

This research work is supported by the grant from the National Research Council of Thailand (NRCT), year 2013.

Most importantly, I wish to express my infinite gratitude to my family for their love, encouragement, understanding, kindness and everything, which are given to me throughout my life.
