Appendix 4 – Percentages of each bacterial group

Abundance of rDNA clones of different bacteria group. Phylogenetic distribution of 16S rRNA genes amplified from DNA extracted from 3 different soils.

Bacterial group	Percentage
Unidentified	57.14
Firmicutes	12.86
Actinobacteria	8.57
α - Proteobacteria	8.57
β - Proteobacteria	2.86
γ - Proteobacteria	7.14
Bacteriodes	1.43
Planctomycetes	1.43

Abundance of rDNA clones of different bacteria group. Phylogenetic distribution of 16S rRNA genes amplified from DNA extracted from each different soils, presented as the percentage.

VITAE

Miss Araya Konthikamee was born on May 22, 1982 in Bangkok, Thailand. She graduated with a Bachelor of Science in Biology, from the Department of Biology, Chulalongkorn University, Bangkok, Thailand in 2004. She graduated in Master of Science in Zoology in 2007 from the Department of Biology, Faculty of Science, Chulalongkorn University, Bangkok, Thailand. During the course of study, she obtained financial supports from Graduate School Chulalongkorn University, BRT-Master Thesis Grants, Thailand and the Thai government budget 2007, under the Research Program on Conservation and Utilization of Biodiversity and the Center of Excellence in Biodiversity, Faculty of Science, Chulalongkorn University.
