

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

This report is partially supported by Silpakorn University Research and Development Institute (SURDI), Faculty of Pharmacy and Graduate school, Silpakorn University.

I would like to express my deepest gratitude and appreciation to my advisor, Associate Professor Dr. Jurairat Nunthanid for her advice, attention and guidance in providing invaluable ideas that led to the success of my thesis, and especially for her tireless patience throughout my study. My sincere gratitude also goes to my teacher, Mr. Panjapol Laopoonpat for his helpful support, invaluable suggestion, and kindness given to me during my study. I am very much indebted to both of them.

I would like to especially thanks to Associate Professor Dr. Pornsak Sriamornsak, Associate Professor Dr. Sontaya Limmatvapirat, Associate Professor Dr. Manee Luangtananan and Assistant Professor Dr. Panida Asavapichayont at the Department of Pharmaceutical Technology and Pharmaceutical Biopolymer Group (PBiG), Faculty of Pharmacy, Silpakorn University, for giving insightful ideas and discussion in my research.

I would like to sincerely thank and am grateful for Assistant Professor Dr. Sathit Niratisai and Associate Professor Dr. Prasert Akkaramongkolporn for their valuable guidances and helpful comments. I would also like to thank Associate Professor Dr. Satit Puttipipatkachorn from Faculty of Pharmacy, Mahidol University for his helpful suggestion and his valuable time being my thesis examination committee.

I am very grateful to express my gratitude to Professor Dr. Keiji Yamamoto for giving me a great opportunity to join his laboratory at Faculty of Pharmaceutical Sciences, Chiba University, Japan. I would also like to acknowledge Assistant Professor Dr. Waree Limwikrant for her precious suggestions and caring during my stay in Japan. I also cannot forget to thank all laboratory members there for their warm welcoming, help and fellowship.

I would like to thank to all teachers, fellow graduate students, researchers and staff in Faculty of Pharmacy and Graduate school, Silpakorn University, for giving me the place, equipments, knowledge and friendship.

I also record my special appreciation for the kind assistance, support and friendship granted me by all my friends, my colleagues and fellow graduate students. Finally, I wish to declare my infinite gratitude to my family for their endless love, encouragement, care and precious spiritual support throughout my life.