Development of an information system for People's Loan Project Management at the Government Savings Bank, Mae Rim Branch, Chiang Mai Province has an objective to support information system. The problem is the previous operation is manual with some information from standalone system. The operation is inflexible, timeless and not accurate. The project is desired to support the rapid information process and to produce summary reports, that enhance the management. The development employs Access as manage database system and ASP (Active Server Pages) to develop the web page on Window XP. The system is tested on Internet Information Server 5 (IIS5). Test has been carried out with the actual data collected since July 2003. The results are accepted by users, and the system is declared to be more easy operation and effective daily performance.
