

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I would like to express my gratitude to all those who made completion of this thesis possible.

First and foremost, I would like to thank my thesis advisor, Dr. Chamaipak Maiklad, for her valuable guidance and mentoring. Her encouragement and the freedom she allowed me in pursuing my thoughts and ideas are greatly appreciated. The completion of this study would not have been possible without her.

I was fortunate to be surrounded by knowledgeable and friendly teacher, Mr. Dion Antony Hunt, who advised me regarding the editing and proofing of the draft document, in order to assure correctness and completeness.

My thesis committee, M.L. Jaralvilai Charunrochana, provided me with valuable feedback and support to improve this thesis. I am indebted for all of the knowledge and advice she shared with me.

I am also indebted to the entire faculty of the ESP program for their academic guidance and support.

I am extremely grateful to all MA/ESP students, especially those who volunteered their time to participate in the study group. Thank you for allowing me to interview you. Your candor provided the essential data for preparation of this thesis. I am indebted to my ESP friends for providing a stimulating and enjoyable environment in which to learn and grow.

I am also thankful to Mr. Mark Raabe, my adopted uncle, for his academic guidance and personal support. He believed in me before I believed in myself, and showed me how to climb a steep hill one step at a time. He was always certain in my ability to achieve any goal that I established for myself. His faith helped me to see the path to my degree, which was sometimes clouded in self doubt.

I also wish to thank Mr. Vishnu Nuansanitt for providing a loving and supportive environment. Most importantly of all, thank you for being you.

Lastly, I wish to thank my parents, Mr. Somjit and Mrs. Patchara, and my lovely grandmother, Mrs. Sumroy, have been a constant source of support – emotional, moral and of course financial – during my postgraduate years, and this thesis would certainly not have existed without them.
