

Definitions of Interesting Informal Words Found in the Twenty-Five Movie Reviews

Badass: “a tough, aggressive, or uncooperative person” (Wehmeier, 1998).

Kooky kivk: These words are used as a n adjective when speakers encounter something very strange and not common.

Razzle Dazzle: Razzle dazzle is the altered vesion of the original word “razzamatazz”, which means something unusal or ostentatious that is created to make an impression on people.

Savvy: “shrewdness and practical knowledge, especially in politics or business” (Wehmeier, 1998). However, if savvy is verb, it means to know or understand.

Shiv.: “a knife or razor used as a weapon” (Wehmeier, 1998).

Tyke (s): “a small child, especially one regarded as cheeky or badly behaved” (Wehmeier, 1998).

Wacky: Being amusing or very funny in ridiculous and silly way (Wehmeier, 1998).