A large grid of empty rectangular cells, likely a form or data table. The grid is composed of approximately 30 columns and 30 rows. The cells are arranged in a regular pattern, with some cells containing small question marks or other symbols, possibly indicating missing data or specific instructions.

[A series of 42 rows of text, each consisting of a long sequence of square symbols and a few question marks. The symbols are arranged in a regular, grid-like pattern, resembling a placeholder or a corrupted document. The question marks are scattered throughout, primarily in the first and last few rows of each section.

[A grid of 20 columns and 30 rows of empty boxes, resembling graph paper. The grid contains several question marks and some boxes are partially filled with horizontal lines, suggesting a form or a diagram. The question marks are located at approximately: (row 18, col 19), (row 18, col 26), (row 18, col 31), (row 19, col 1), (row 19, col 5), (row 34, col 19), (row 34, col 26), (row 34, col 31), (row 35, col 1), (row 35, col 5), (row 35, col 9), (row 35, col 13).]

[A page of a document with a grid of small squares and some larger, irregular shapes, possibly representing a technical drawing or a form. The page contains several lines of text, mostly consisting of small squares, with some larger, irregular shapes interspersed. The shapes are scattered across the page, with some appearing in pairs or groups. The overall layout is somewhat sparse, with large areas of empty space between the shapes and lines of text. The shapes are mostly rectangular, but some are more complex, with multiple segments or protrusions. The text is arranged in horizontal lines, with some lines being longer than others. The overall appearance is that of a technical drawing or a form, possibly related to a specific field of study or industry. The shapes and lines are drawn in a simple, clean style, with no shading or color. The page is otherwise blank, with no other markings or text.

[The page contains a dense grid of empty square boxes, characteristic of a form for handwriting practice. The grid is composed of approximately 30 columns and 40 rows of boxes. There are several instances where a question mark '?' is placed within the boxes, and some boxes are filled with the number '0'. The text is arranged in a structured, repetitive pattern across the page.]

[A large grid of empty boxes for text entry, containing several question marks and some filled boxes.]

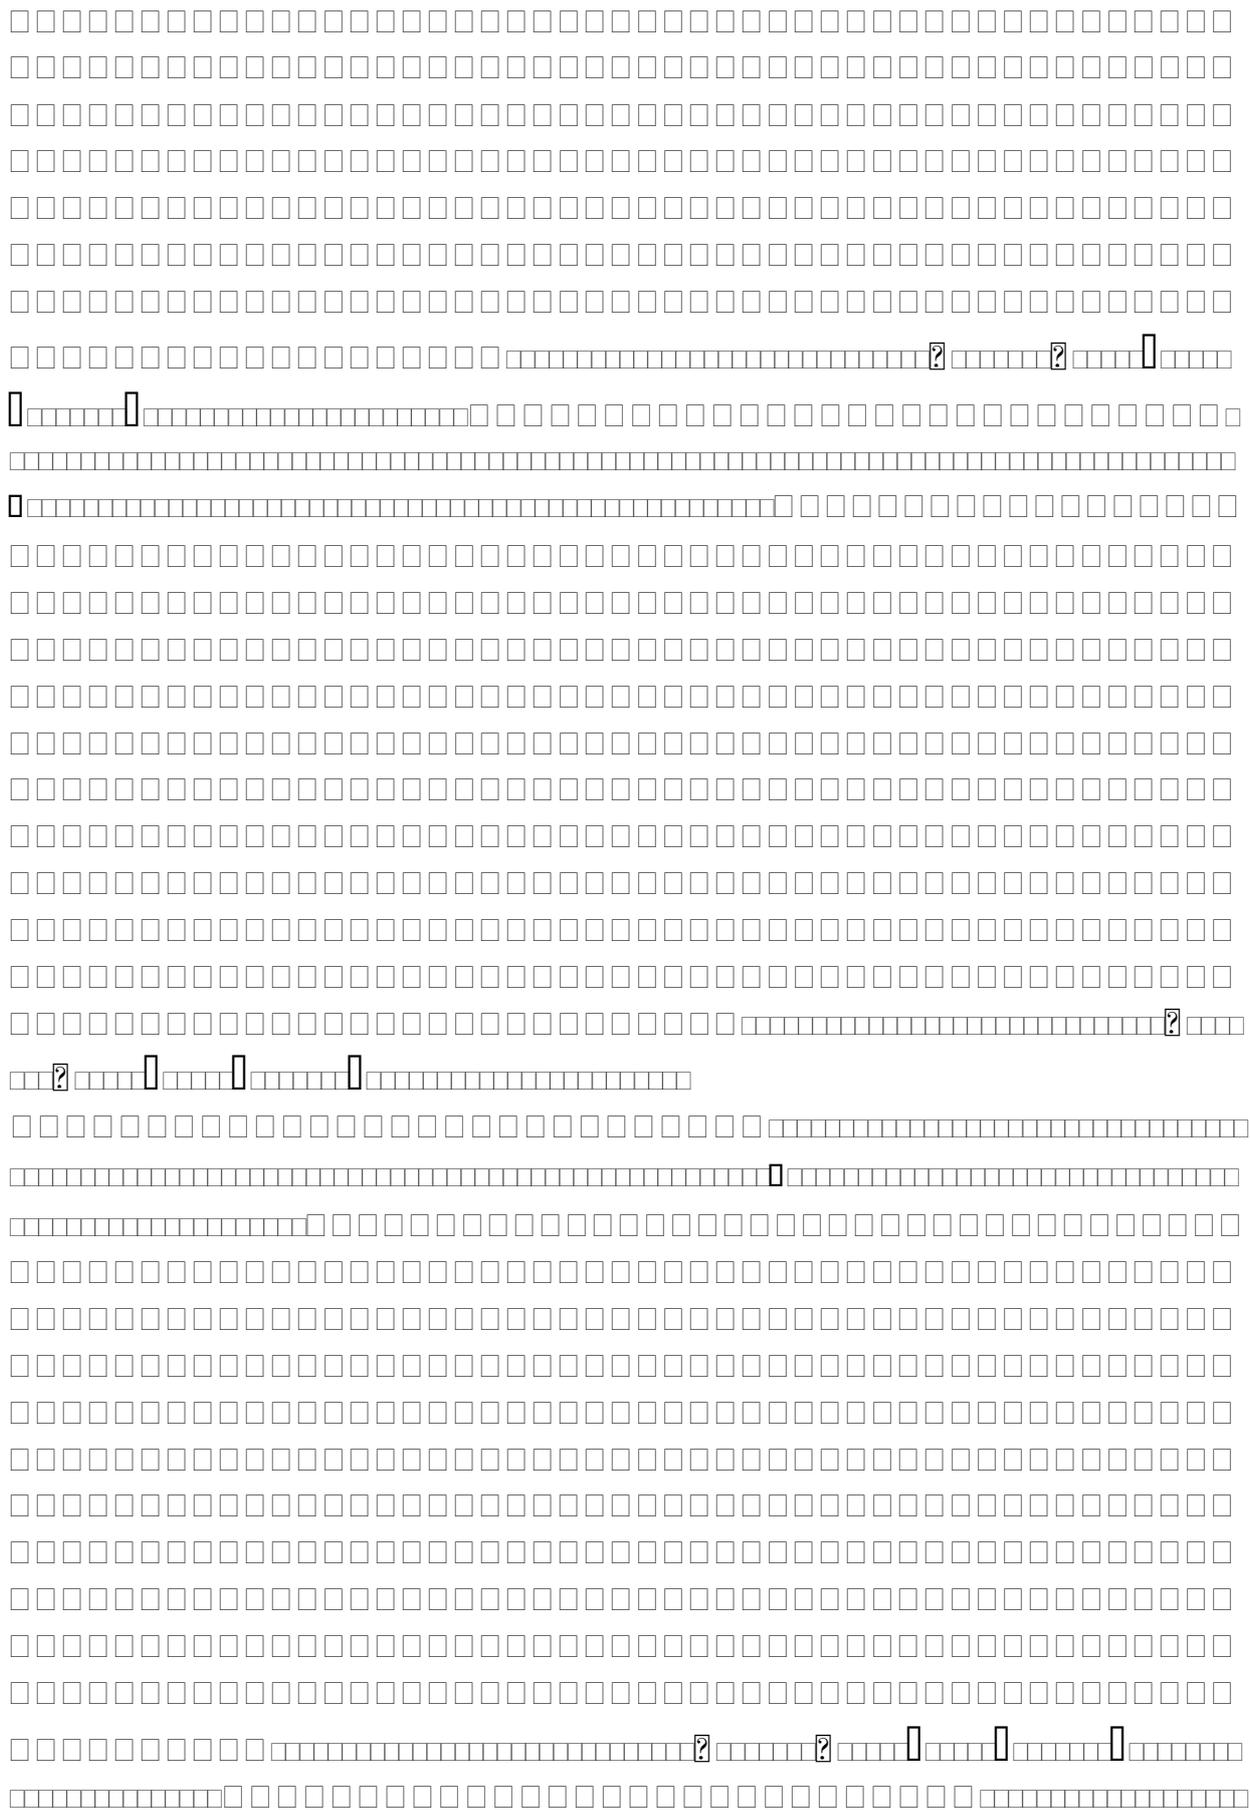

[A dense grid of small, faint characters is present throughout the page, resembling a watermark or a low-resolution scan of text. The characters are arranged in horizontal lines, with some larger, bolded characters or symbols interspersed at irregular intervals, possibly serving as a signature or a specific marker. The overall appearance is that of a complex, low-contrast graphic or data field.]

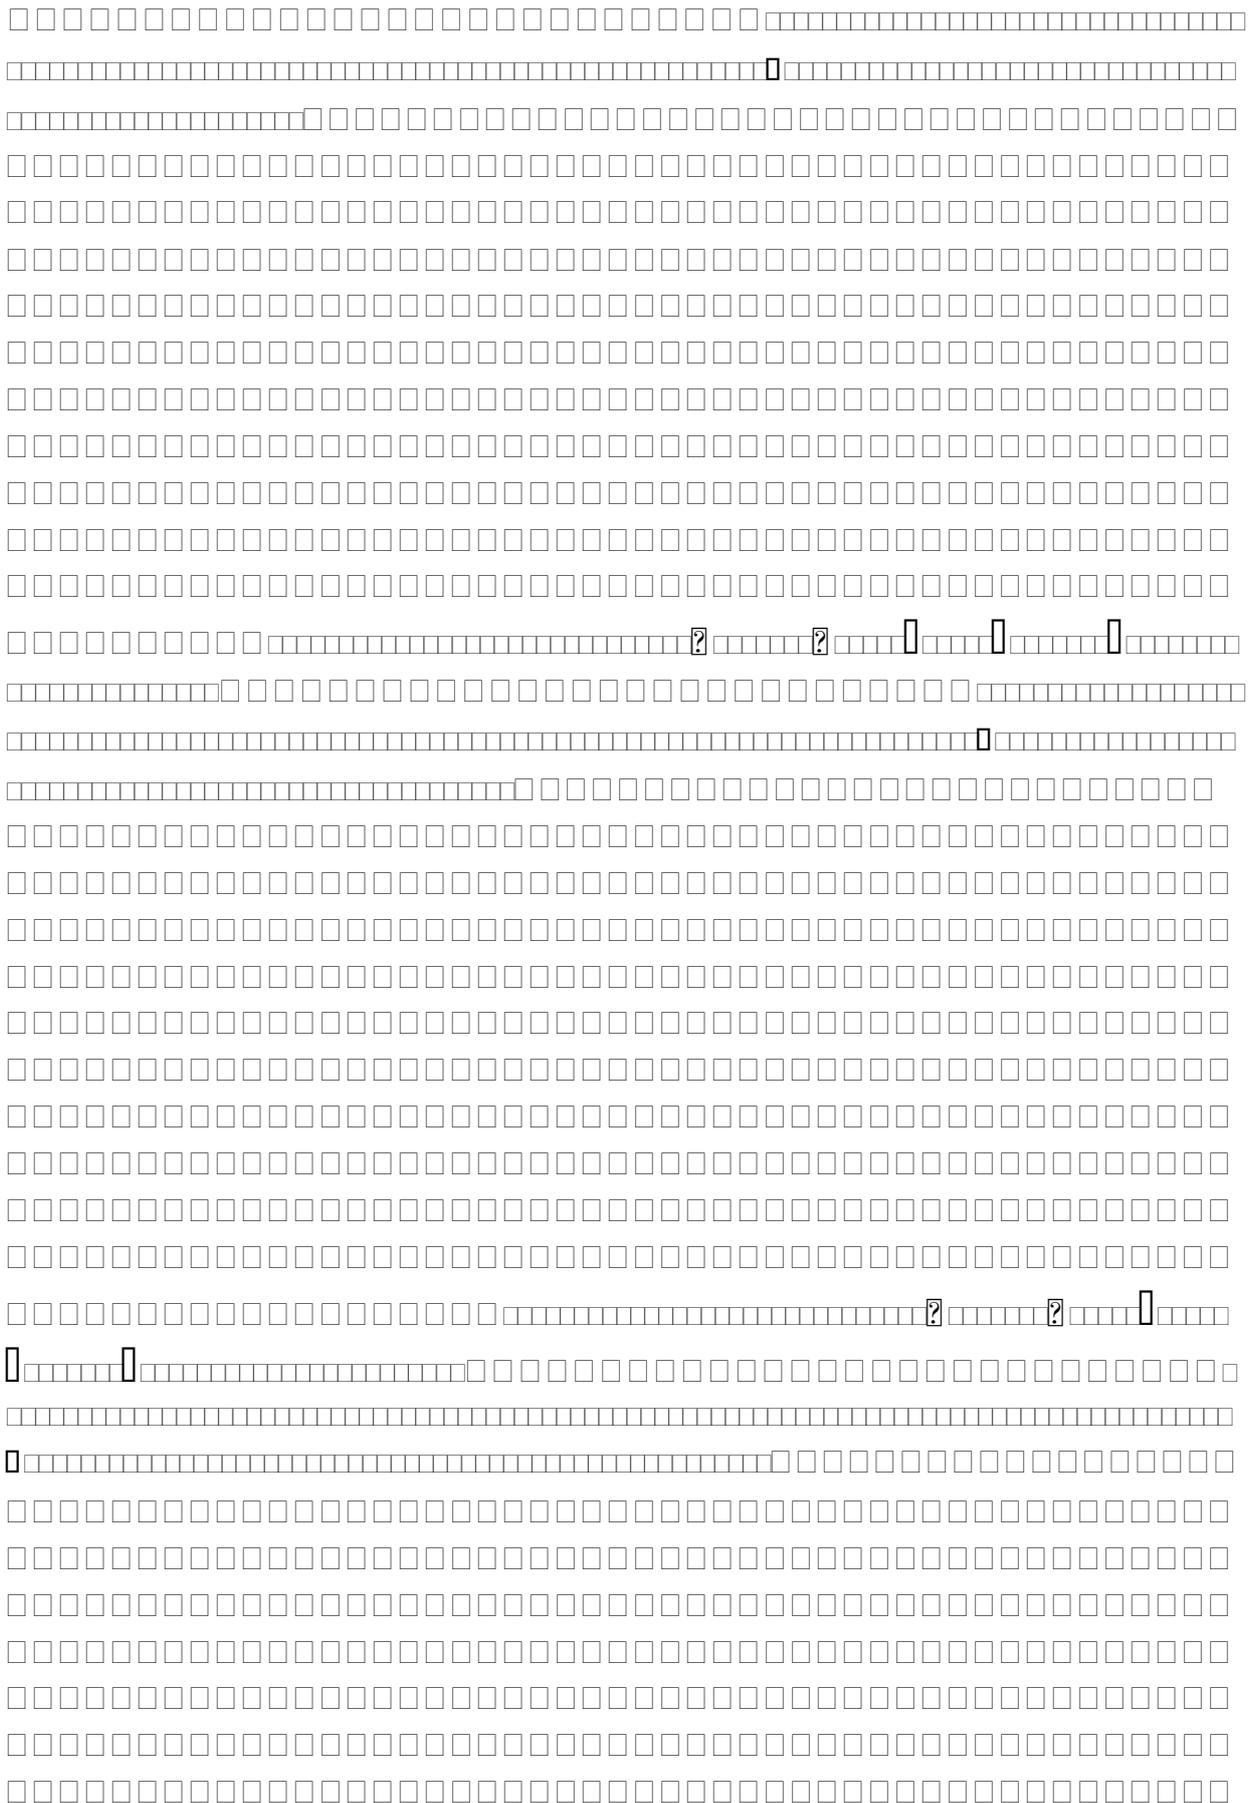

[A page of a document consisting of multiple lines of very faint, low-contrast text. The text is largely illegible due to its small size and fading, but the layout appears to be a standard block of prose. There are several instances of symbols that look like question marks or small boxes scattered throughout the text, possibly indicating errors or specific markers.

A grid of 20 rows and 60 columns of empty boxes for handwriting practice. The grid contains several question marks and vertical bars placed at specific intervals within the boxes. The question marks are located at the end of the 10th, 15th, and 18th rows. The vertical bars are located at the beginning of the 11th, 12th, 13th, and 17th rows.

[A large grid of empty boxes, typical of a handwriting practice sheet. The grid consists of approximately 20 rows and 100 columns. Several boxes are pre-filled with question marks (?), and some are empty, suggesting a specific pattern or sequence to be followed. The question marks are located at various points throughout the grid, including the top right, middle right, and bottom right areas. There are also some boxes containing a vertical bar character (|) interspersed among the question marks and empty boxes.]

[The text in this block consists of 29 lines of a repeating grid of small squares. Several characters are highlighted with boxes, including question marks and vertical bars, scattered throughout the grid. For example, in the 6th line, the 66th, 73rd, and 77th squares contain question marks. In the 7th line, the 1st and 14th squares contain vertical bars. This pattern of highlighting continues across the page.]
