Sovereignty in Public Law is a supremacy of regime of Government. Thailand adopts the democratic regime of Government with the King as Head of the State under the Constitution. The King exercises such power through the Council of Minister, the National Assembly and the Courts. The National Assembly is the institution to exercise Legislative power to enforce rule and regulation in the state by enacting law. The Secretariat of the National Assembly is the supporting organ for the work of the National Assembly. Personnel Administration of the Secretariat of the National Assembly is very important in supporting the efficiency of law enactment by the National Assembly .
